Prom For Paws A Formal Dress Resale

Thank you all who donated their items. It was a smashing success. We helped 63 young ladies find a way to go to prom. We also have the potential to take 36 feral cats off the dating scene.

Happy Leap Year Day!

Are you taking this day to do something extraordinary? Something wonderful to make the most of this freebie day?

It's an extra day for life and loving and enjoying our world. It's an extra day to a prisoner's jail sentence. The good with the bad.

If you are a stray dog, looking for fresh water to drink or a safe place to sleep- it's just another day. If you are a cat trapped in a feces and urine drenched home it's just another day trapped in hell.

Make today a day you do something extraordinary!

Planned Pethood Rescues Home Full of Animals

It was a scene from a horror movie...or an episode of Hoarders...or a scene from a rescuer's worst nightmare!

Wall-to-wall animals. Feces. Urine. Decay. Neglect.

Jane Holman, a volunteer with Planned Pethood, had been trapping feral cats in a colony when she was approached by a concerned neighbor of a specific home, hoarding animals. She started making inquiries and trying to figure out how bad the problem was.

It was bad. Really bad. Feces everywhere. Litter boxes overflowing. Urine drenching all surfaces. Feces smeared on all surfaces. Sad eyes. And scared cats and dogs looking for a place to rest. Tired mama cats, after litter upon litter.

Jane and Karen Latta,
Cat Intake Coordinator
worked with all the cat fosters to see how many animals could be placed on our foster system. Sadly, the dog program had no room to take in the dogs from this sad situation. Jane was able to find another rescue to take the 2
dogs and 4 puppies.

In one day,
Jane removed 28 cats,
2 dogs and 4 puppies
from a home less than 1000 sq feet. Nine of the cats were placed in other rescues, leaving 19 in
the Planned Pethood
adoption program.

One foster mom, Nancy Fisher reports her foster taken from the home, Sassy is doing well. Her photo is of her having fun rolling around and hanging upside down. She is loving everything fresh and clean. Her eyes are reddened and just a little teary yet due to irritation from the constant ammonia stench in the home's air. Most of the cats, as reported by two of the vet clinics, had these eye issues that improved overnight just by being in clean air.

Clearly, foster homes are needed badly. If you can foster, please do. If you can't foster, please help us pay our vet bills by making a donation. And when it comes time to vote, please remember those that support animal welfare bills by voting for them.

If you are able to foster a cat please call us at 419-826-FIXX or submit your application online here. You can learn more about fostering here.
